

Mod-Lite open sessions are cancelled at Edelweiss Speedway

Cantley, PQ – Martin Bélanger - With wet weather predictions throughout the week-end combined with the long haul of teams that were supposed to pass the week-end in the region forced Edelweiss to cancel the Mod-Lite practice session scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Some theory session and some on-track lessons were planned for Saturday and the driver would have taken all Sunday to get used to their new car on the track.

The drivers will have the chance to hit the speedway next Saturday, May 10. All the classes will have some time to try their cars. We invite people to come and see the new colors and also the new drivers for the 2008 season.

It will be free admission for everyone and the practice sessions are scheduled to start at noon to finish around 4pm.
